Reservations are limited and fill up very quickly and the prime days and times go very fast. If you do not find the time and date you want it is because it is already booked. You can check back here later to see if something has opened. People do cancel, and those spots get filled right away. Try different times and days. If you are a party of 7 or 8 give us a call, there are very few reservations available for larger groups. Give us a call and we can tell you what's open.

All reservations are being done online. If you call in for Lobster reservations, you will be directed here to make your reservations.
